

Your Special Invitation

Altium Designer - ASIA Specialist Seminar

Get more design power in your hands today!

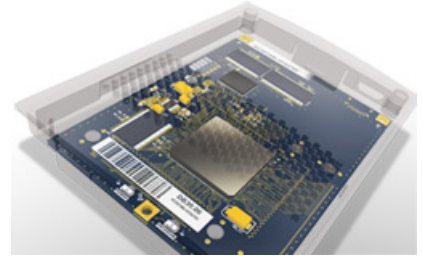

Your chance to meet with David Read, Associate Director Support and Application, and discover how Altium can help you develop, implement, test and bring to market digital products faster than ever before. With a focus on real-time demonstrations, this is your chance to see Altium Designer, the world's first unified electronic product development solution in action.

Why Attend?

Session 1: Why Altium ?

Altium Designer is the world's leading unified electronics design system. It allows developers to take a design concept through to completion within a single, unified application. Learn more about:

- Getting product to market faster and successfully
- Integrating Altium Designer with existing company databases and systems
- Document control and team collaboration
- Supplier Search
- Design release management to better manage the release process
- Licensing options / software assurance - low cost of ownership

Session 2: Explore the latest release of Altium Designer

- Circuit design and SPICE simulation
- Rapid graphical FPGA-based system design and debug
- Experience live demonstrations with working product using Altium Designer + NanoBoard
- Adding a new dimension to board design - 3D PCB design in action
- Improved PCB layout productivity with new interactive routing features
- Interfacing with mechanical CAD systems for electrical/mechanical co-design
- Design your PCB in 3D whilst dynamically linking to your MCAD files

Session 3: User to User session

Your opportunity to talk with David Read and also learn from shared experiences with other users
